

Forks needs leaders with fresh ideas

As Forks Township decides what types of candidates should lead our community for the next six years, I believe voters should consider a few key ideas.

The Republican field has four candidates for two open supervisor seats. In the past six years, Forks has experienced a tremendous amount of growth and development. I wonder if we are going to have sufficient public services to support this growth? How will our roads handle the increased traffic? What is the impact on our schools?

It is time for new and fresh ideas for the township. I believe David Billings is the right candidate to lead Forks into the future. He is a family man dedicated to improving our community. He has walked the neighborhoods to hear the concerns of residents, and he has proposed real solutions to our problems.

It is time for Republicans to vote for a change. In the May 15 primary there are two open seats and a great chance to improve our quality of life.
