Focus on the future of Forks Township

Saturday, May 05, 2007

As a resident of Forks Township for more than 50 years, I have many concerns for its future, which is why I am running for supervisor. I realize that some people (including recent letter writers) will continue to choose to focus on negative issues and personally attack me regarding the circumstances surrounding my departure as chief of police several years ago. I chose not to speak publicly about those circumstances then because I wanted my campaign to focus on the vision and goals I had for the township.

As I enter the race again, it is clear to me the negativity and lies will continue until I present the facts of my departure and the documents to support those facts. To anyone who is interested, I welcome the opportunity for this discussion. While I may not change the minds of those who choose to continually attack my reputation, perhaps it will at least set the record straight.

Forks Township is my home and I care about its future. I am concerned about water runoff and too much development and I care about long-term infrastructure plans. It is time to stop focusing on the past and look toward the future to make Forks Township the best it can be.
