Rules must be followed in Forks Township

August 22, 2007

I attended the Forks Township Board of Supervisors meeting on Aug. 16. They discussed the cutting of several old trees along Old River Road by developer Gary Strausser.

It is amazing a developer would cut down 100-year-old trees on township property. As the township solicitor reminded the supervisors, the developer did not have the right or permission from the township to remove the trees.

I urge the supervisors to take the strongest possible legal action. It's critical to send a message to all developers that the citizens of Forks Township take our agreements seriously. In return, we expect developers to honor their agreements.

We can never replace these beautiful trees, but we can ensure this type of act does not happen again. We owe it to our future generations.
